Vote deadlocks health board

by Jerry Grozelle

The decision expected Tuesday evening from the Acting Health Services Board, on the consolidation of the acute care beds in one location, didn't materialize. A motion by board member Barb Dawson, to locate the 19 acute care beds at the Haliburton Hospital, was defeated during the meeting held at the Legion Hall in Haliburton.

Board member Ken Wilson called for a vote by secret ballot on the issue and the Rogers Rules of Order were adopted for the vote. The rules stated that the chairperson was allowed to vote, but in the event of a tie vote, the motion would be defeated. The result of the vote was a 7-7 deadlock and the motion was defeated.

The vote was greeted with mixed emotions by board members. Some of those who spoke in favour of the motion during discussions prior to the vote, viewed the hung jury decision as a disaster that has set the process back months and may even jeopardize ministry funding.

Others said that it is a clear message to the ministry that its directive to place all of the beds in one location is unacceptable. Those who opposed the Haliburton site fear that services in Minden would become inadequate. They were nervous about the terms "urgent care" and "observation beds," but one of the main reasons for opposition to the motion was a lack of information on which to make the decision.

"There is precious little information," said board member Doug Campbell. "The ministry (of health) information adds up to four fifths of nothing."

In a presentation to support her motion, Dawson showed a map of the county with two circles of equal size. One placed Haliburton in the centre and the other had Minden as its midpoint. Her argument was that there was a greater population density within the diameter of the Haliburton-centred circle.

Both Campbell and Ted Wilkes argued that Dawson's figures didn't take into account the potential hospital users from the northern portion of Victoria County and the northernmost townships of Peterborough County.

Wilkes presented statistics from Bexley, Laxton, Digby and Longford, Somerville and Galloway-Cavendish townships. In his report, Wilkes said: "Of the 13,000 people residing in these townships, a minimum of 5,000 are dependant on a meaningful hospital facility in Minden."

Wilkes said that the Coulson Report, which has been used as a basis for the decision-making process, states a population of 14,395 for Haliburton County. Wilkes observed that the board is responsible for ensuring that the

MOE investigating roadside find

by Andrew Milne

A cottager picking berries near Carnarvon a few weeks ago found three chemical containers by the shoulder of the Peterson Road.

As of this writing, the Ministry of Environment (MOE) was looking into the matter, but had not yet identified the contents of the pails which were found sitting on what appears to be a broken car windshield, below the grade of the road, in a swampy area about 0.5 km from where the road meets Highway 118.

The MOE said that whatever was in them initially, any number of things could be in the pails now, and it isn't necessarily anything to worry about.

Robert Davies of Peach Lake (north of Hall's Lake) found the containers and called the MOE. Davies says he was told that since they were found on a municipal road allowance, the containers were the municipality's problem. Davies called The Times September 23, when he drove by the spot again and found the containers were still there.

The Times visited the site September 27, and found the containers — three five-gallon plastic pails with rusting metal fittings, giving off a faint odour. The name of a Mississauga chemical company was stamped on them.

The Times called the company, which has an emergency response team for dealing with chemical spills. However, they too felt the problem fell within the jurisdiction of the MOE since the product had already been sold to a customer, possibly some years ago, and because the pails did not necessarily contain their product anymore in any case. They called the MOE, which sent Bill Thompson to look into it.

Thompson says he had looked into the problem before — after Davies had called the MOE — but that he had been unable to locate the containers from the directions he'd been given.

Thompson also said that any number of things could actually be in the containers now, and it is quite possible it really is nothing to worry about. He expects to know soon what the initial contents were, as the company can tell from the markings on the containers. But, he says, if something other than that is in them now, it will be necessary to take them to MOE labs for analysis, which

TV, VCRs taken in ASES break-in Intruders made off with a television set, two VCRs and a portable stereo when they broke into Archie Stouffer Elementary School early Sunday morning. A television was also damaged.

The break-in was discovered by a teacher who entered the building shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday morning. According to the police, she observed that the window in the door to the school's library had been broken and the door unlocked. Access to the staff room was gained in the same manner.

The teacher called the principal who notified the police.

According to the OPP the thieves gained access to the building by breaking a lower panel of glass in a door on the north side of the school.

Police note that in addition to the electronics, the thieves also removed a stuffed Golden Eagle from one of the classrooms. They hope the stuffed bird may provide the key to identifying the intruders.

At the moment there are no suspects. Police are continuing their investigation.

Candidate update

The following is a list of candidates in each of the ten Haliburton County municipalities and the three north Victoria County townships who have registered for the up-coming election. The candidates have until Friday October 14 to file nomination papers. Polling day is Monday November 14. Advance polls are scheduled for Saturday November 5 and Wednesday November 9. A third advance poll may be held at the discretion of the municipality. The complete list of candidates will be published following the close of registration. (I) indicates incumbent for that office.

Chairman says a solution can still be found health service needs of over 19,000 citizens are met. He adds that about 25 per cent of those people live outside Haliburton County.

Wilkes says he hopes the vote will have a positive effect and help everyone on the board to recognize a very real need to have meaningful health care facilities in both Haliburton and Minden.

"I would have been just as strongly opposed to all the facilities going to Minden without any clear definition of what would be available in Haliburton," he said.

Wilkes said that until the issue of health care facilities in both communities is addressed "it won't be a win-win situation, and that's what it has to be". He acknowledges that whatever decision is finally made, not everybody is going to be happy. But he is certain that some form of compromise can be made that will provide adequate health care facilities in both centres.

Wilkes is optimistic that the ministry of health can be persuaded to reconsider its position on consolidating all 19 acute care beds in one location. But he says the board can't be aggressive in its dealings with the ministry.

"We have to make sure they grasp the reality of the situation," Wilkes said. "We're not dealing with machinery; we're dealing with life and death issues."

Making the ministry aware of the vast difference between downtown Toronto and Haliburton County in terms of adequate care within a reasonable time is one issue that he thinks should be stressed.

Board chairman Stuart Baker said that the members of the board need to go back to the issues and find some common ground on what would be acceptable.

"I really think that can still happen. There's a deadlock right now but usually every time you get into a deadlock situation, you can look at the situation again, weigh the evidence again and do some talking and usually those things will come about," he said.

He admitted that the board members are under considerable pressure.

"They're all volunteers and they all want to do what's right for the community. I think there's a feeling that if we make a mistake here, we're letting the community down somehow."

He added that maybe the board members are being very cautious because of the sensitive nature of the issue.

"There's nothing wrong with being cautious," he said. "I understand that. I'm no different than anybody else. I find it frustrating at times, but I think the deadlock position can be broken with common sense being applied."

Baker added that he feels a compromise must be reached as soon as possible.

Speaking strictly as a member of the board and not as its chairperson, Baker said that he is convinced that the Ministry of Health won't change its mind on the issue of consolidating the acute care beds in one location. He said that he thinks it is beyond the taxpayers' ability to support two acute care hospitals in the county, both operating with the same level of services.

"If I thought it could be achieved (having two hospitals with acute care facilities), I would also want to have beds in the two communities," Baker said.

Baker added that he thinks if a decision isn't made soon, there is a possibility of losing the funding or that the ministry might either make the decision itself or turn it back over to St. Joseph's Hospital to deal with.

NOTICE OF MOTION

Before the meeting ended, board member Bev MacDuff stated that she intended to introduce a more comprehensive motion that would deal with most of the issues she feels are holding up the process.

Among a few others, MacDuff's proposed motion includes the following points: consolidating up to 19 acute care beds at the Haliburton Hospital and upgrading the emergency services there; designating up to seven stabilization beds to be added to Hyland Crest as an emergency/stabilization unit; Hyland Crest upgrading; investigation of the outpatient facility and the adult day program and funding for them; investigating 24-hour emergency staffing at both communities; requesting support from the ministry and County Council to change the name of Hyland Crest from "home for the aged" to "health care centre"; and to opening avenues of communication and negotiation with the ministry pertaining to those initiatives.

The motion will be distributed to all board members to peruse before the October 12 meeting in Minden. That will give all board members time to study the proposed motion and prepare questions and comments. The board will consider and discuss the contents of that proposal (possibly make amendments), with the vote to follow.

"What I tried to do in that resolution was to incorporate all the issues that the board has to deal with," MacDuff said. "I'm trying to put a nice neat little package together so when you're finished negotiating with the ministry you've got everything done, and away you go instead of trying to do it piecemeal. I don't think that will work. I think if you put it all in a package, you've got something to negotiate and communicate with the ministry. By doing something like that, it shows the ministry that we are trying to address all the issues and to resolve all the issues and get on with it."

She said that by addressing all the concerns and coming up with a viable solution, she hopes the ministry will see how genuinely concerned the board is with the health care that serves all the people in Haliburton County.

"You have to think of everybody as a whole," she said.

MacDuff is optimistic that the ministry will be open to negotiation.

"I don't think they're going to just slam the door," she said.

When the results of the vote on Barb Dawson's motion were made known, the majority of the audience in attendance left the meeting. Those who left probably did so feeling a sense of hopelessness and frustration at the board's apparent inability to come to terms with the issue.

MacDuff said that it was unfortunate that so many people left the meeting after the defeat of Dawson's motion.

"If they'd have stayed around a little longer and heard more of the discussion, had an opportunity to hear that there was another motion being proposed, maybe they wouldn't have left with such a hopeless, or negative, feeling. Maybe they would have seen a ray of hope out there."

"I don't believe this is a hopeless situation. Health care is a serious matter for everybody. We're all getting older and at some point in time, we're all going to need help of some kind, whether it be urgent care, emergency care or long term care. And, it's up to us to make sure that it's there."

Studio Tour once again a popular attraction

The sun shone on the seventh annual Haliburton County Studio Tour this past weekend. Thousands of visitors and residents combed the back roads searching out unique and interesting items crafted by more than 35 local artisans. The tour has become a popular autumn tradition. Combined with the bright fall foliage it is as much an adventure in the country as it is an opportunity to visit the artists where they do much of their work. At press time it was too early to provide figures, however, if the traffic on Saturday was any indication, the 1994 edition of the tour should top any previous years.

ARTISTS AND THEIR STUDIOS

Top: Visitors to Wendy Ladurantaye's stained glass studio find themselves in a hanging forest of colourful sun-catchers.

Business owners want trail dispute resolved

A group of Haliburton business owners is writing letters to Minister of Tourism Ann Swarbrick, to intervene in resolving a conflict between private landowners and the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR).

They're doing so because they're afraid that, if the conflict is not resolved, the effect on their businesses and on the local economy will be catastrophic.

The property owners, members of an organization called the Haliburton Forest Owners Association (HFOA), have threatened to cut off public access to trails on their lands if the MNR does not re-instate a program called the Managed Forest Tax Rebate (MFTR), which reduces the property tax burden on forest owners meeting certain guidelines for sustainable forestry. The MNR discontinued the rebate in 1993 as part of cost-cutting programs.

The HFOA says that, without the rebate, they will be unable to manage their lands sustainably, and will be forced to clear cut their lands to pay the tax. They say their November 1 ultimatum was meant to gain attention for their plight, and to force the MNR to deal with the issue.

Local business owners, however, are afraid for their livelihood. Closing the trails is expected to seriously damage the winter tourism economy which is heavily dependant on the snowmobilers and cross-country skiers.

Gloria Carnochan who owns Backwoods Marina, organized the letter-writing campaign to the Minister of Tourism. Carnochan has a very specific reason to be worried: half of her business comes from the winter season, and particularly from the repair of snowmobiles.

But she says she shouldn't be the only one losing sleep over the issue. Tourism, she says, is at the heart of the county's economy. And if people like her go out of business, it's going to hurt everyone.

"I read an article in one of the newspapers, that the welfare rolls were dropping... They're dropping now, but what's going to happen in December? I mean if the businesses don't have business, they lay their people off. And their people don't have money... The whole county could be bankrupt."

Mike Wedmann, the marina's operations manager, worked with Carnochan in organizing the letter-writing campaign. "It's a chain reaction all the way down the line," says Wedmann. "People have to realize that. If the people that work in the tourism and snowmobile industry don't have any jobs, they're not going to spend any money in the community."

Wedmann says they chose to write to the Minister of Tourism, and not to Minister of Natural Resources Howard Hampton, because, "We don't want to confuse the issue. The landowners have their fight, and they're not getting anywhere with Hampton from what we've seen so far. So we want to hit it from a different side. Maybe if Hampton gets a call from his partner at the cabinet table he'll do something. We've learned from experience that you don't get anything from the government unless you keep hounding them from every angle you can."

Adding the weight of the county's business community to the debate, Jim and Gloria Carnochan and staff member Mike Wedmann have spearheaded a letter-writing campaign aimed at the Minister of Tourism.

As of September 27, Carnochan says she had around 30 letters for the minister. She says Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson has said he will hand-deliver them for her.

In the meantime, they wait. "We can't plan for two or three months down the road let alone three years down the road," says Wedmann. "It's crazy."

"And our staff is wondering," he continues, "if they're even going to have a job this winter."

Investigation continues into abandoned pails

may take longer.

David Aston is a member of the chemical company's emergency response team. Aston says it may be difficult to determine to whom the product in the pails was sold. "I have to go back one, two or maybe five years... and products in that sort of size are used in virtually every hospital, virtually every manufacturing facility... we would supply virtually half of the hospitals in the area... or virtually any of the industries in the area."

Aston also indicated that it is a little worrying that someone would dispose of the pails in that fashion, whether or not they contain the initial product. Said Aston, "We supply hundreds of these pails around the country. I asked the other day what people do with these pails, and the people in the industry said, well we use them as empty five gallon pails, which is not that appropriate because they have had chemicals in them, some of which are toxic."

David Thompson, from the Ministry of Environment, inspects the pails found at the side of Peterson Road by an area cottage owner. The investigation into the pails' contents continues

Norland Women's Institute marks 65 years

by Jerry Grozelle

At 65 years of age, most people are thinking of retirement. But the Norland Women's Institute celebrated its 65th birthday two weeks ago and the organization is as strong and active as ever.

The WI Hall in Norland was abuzz with activity on September 19 as local members and invited guests from other area Women's Institute groups gathered to celebrate the anniversary.

Only one charter member, Annie Watson, remains and she was in attendance for the celebration. Ivy Boyce, who joined the group in its first year, was also there to help celebrate. Bertha Saunders is another first-year member, but she was unable to attend the afternoon get-together.

Life members Mae Perry, Dorothy Brown, Leona Fountain, Hazel Gostlin and Elizabeth Fryer were honoured. Senior members include Dorothea Lynch, Rosa Johnson, Theresa Edmonds, Hazel Young and Mrs. Buxcey.

Twenty-five year pins were presented to Pat Watson and Betty Davey while Arlene Holden, Marion Pearson and Doris Coppin received 10-year pins.

Long time member Jean Stewart wrote a brief history of the Norland WI, which is reproduced here:

The Norland WI was organized on September 11, 1929 at the home of Mrs. J.A. LeCraw. The first meeting was held at the home of the first president, Leslie Stephens. The first secretary was Mrs. Worthy Ward and for many years, the membership fee was 25 cents.

The first meetings were held in the members' homes, but since 1938, we have owned our own hall, which we have improved several times.

Nineteen women joined at the first meeting, but before the end of the first year, they had 41 members. Only three of those women are living today.

Annie Watson, one of our 1994 members, joined at that first meeting and although she left the WI while her family was growing up, she has been a member again for several years.

Ivy Boyce and Bertha Saunders were first year members. Although they were only members for a short time, they have always remained interested in the organization and have attended the occasional meeting.

Women have always been interested in the health and welfare of their families. The first WI was organized in Stoney Creek, Ontario in 1897 because Adelaide Hoodless lost her 18-month-old son (from drinking) unsafe milk. Since then, the WI has been educating its members and other women of the community on how to be better homemakers and take better care of their families.

The Norland WI has conducted countless Department of Agriculture and other courses on food and nutrition, cooking, sewing and crafts. We have had coursed on everything from baking bread to making hats and from indoor gardening to making quilts.

For several years we had a 4H group and have supported other 4H projects as well.

Through speakers, conventions, conferences and workshops, the WI promotes leadership and involvement in community and world affairs. Over the years, we have written letters to local councils and government officials regarding community concerns. We have sent petitions regarding drugs, offensive TV ads, the closing of local schools and the post office.

One of our members spoke to two Provincial Task Forces on the topic of the closing of local schools and the impact on rural communities.

We support District and Area WI resolutions on worthwhile issues.

Ever since Lady Tweedsmuir suggested at a WI meeting in the late 1930s, that the WI should be compiling histories of their communities, women have been keeping Tweedsmuir Books, which were named in her honour.

Schools are always very important to our WI. First aid kits and first aid cabinets were placed in all of the local schools, including Dongola, Norland, Beech Lake, and Moore Falls.

The WI also helped to get medical inspections and music in the schools, bought a water cooler and donated funds toward the purchase of a piano for the Norland school.

The Norland WI purchased seeds for school fair projects and for more than 40 years, provided Christmas candy and other treats for children of the community. For many years, a graduation luncheon was held for the Grade 8 classes and their teachers at the Norland school.

Now that all of the local schools have been closed and Ridgewood School in Coboconk the only school in the seven northern townships of Victoria County, these projects have been discontinued.

Since 1932, we have had an annual Grandmothers' Meeting. In the early days, the WI had a Family Night with a banquet for their husbands and families.

The war years were busy years for our WI. They bought yarn and knit items for servicemen; made clothing and quilts; packed boxes to send to local servicemen; provided seeds for Britain and jam for British projects.

The local WI also donated to such organizations as the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Navy League, War Victim Funds and others.

Pictures of local servicemen were collected and are still on display in the Norland WI Hall.

In the early years, WI members did more volunteer work, such as acting as support for the sick and bereaved and caring for an elderly lady who was unable to fend for herself. But, as more services were provided by the government, the WI projects changed to meet other needs.

In the early years, donations went to Sick Children's Hospital and Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay and bought a fan for St. Christie Hospital.

In the past few years, we have donated to the Coboconk Medical Centre, to a Cat Scan fund and to help finance the purchase of a blood pressure machine.

Senior members: Hazel Young, Theresa Edmonds, Rosa Johnson and Dorothea Lynch (l to r) were among the many people who attended the Norland Women's Institute's 65th anniversary celebrations.

We have had bridal showers, provided donations for families who have lost their homes to fire and served funeral lunches.

In 1936, nursing equipment was purchased by the Norland WI to lend out to the community. In later years, two walkers and a wheelchair were added to this equipment.

In 1953, a donation was made to the Norland Library Building Fund. With the recent move of the library facility to its present location, the WI contributed once again. Over the years, numerous books have been bought for the library in memory of past members and their families.

In 1954, the WI contributed toward hose for the township fire pump. In 1959, the WI organized and celebrated the Norland Centennial, which turned out to be a very interesting day.

Christmas boxes are packed each year for the sick and elderly of the community and are delivered by WI members. Special occasion cards are sent out.

For the past several years, a turkey supper has been held, during the December meeting, for members and their husbands.

WI members are interested in the environment and support the four Rs of waste management — reduce, reuse, recycle and recover.

It is interesting to note that an address at one of the WI meetings in the early 1930s was house cleaning 60 years ago and now. How different that address would be today, another 60 years later.

They tell us times are changing and as times change, so do the projects of the WI. For many years our only fund-raising projects were a mid-summer and Christmas bazaar. But in later years, the Christmas one has been changed to a luncheon and bazaar that more of the husbands and families enjoy. We also have two pancake breakfasts now; one in conjunction with the Frost Fest in the winter and the other at the Western Weekend in the summer.

In the past, the schools, library, 4H, hospitals and the community as a whole have benefited. As we look back at the changes in our community since the WI was organized, we have to wonder what future projects are in store for us.

Charter member: Annie Watson is the only remaining charter member of the Norland Women's Institute. She was one of many WI members who helped celebrate the Norland chapter's 65th anniversary on September 19.

A beginning, not an end

The outcome of the vote at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Health Services Board should have come as no surprise to anyone. A motion to locate all 19 acute care beds in the county at the Haliburton Hospital was defeated as the result of a tie vote.

No matter how cogent the argument...no matter how concisely and passionately the "facts" favouring one location over another are presented... no matter how much sense consolidation of acute care services makes (if indeed it does make any sense at all for these communities), the members of the board would be doing a disservice to one community to strip away its hospital services and leave it with vague promises of things to come.

When the province announced in December that the acute care services in the county must be consolidated at one site, it was the one aspect of a series of recommendations which did not originate from studies within the service area. We knew the consolidation order from the Ministry of Health would be a source of constant turmoil. Since the Health Services Board's creation, the placement of the acute care beds has dogged the committee at almost every meeting, blocking progress on other important matters and pitting member against member and community against community.

The Ministry of Health, in creating the Health Services Board, expected the body, and in fact mandated it, to make decisions which would reflect the needs of the residents of the community. We believe the outcome of the vote Wednesday does indeed do that.

We are heartened by the comments of the chairman, and a number of board members who spoke privately following the meeting, that all is not lost. We believe that a stronger will to find a compromise solution, by both health board members and Ministry of Health officials, can emerge from the heat of the acrimony, which filled the meeting hall Wednesday. In fact before the meeting ended, a motion tabled by one board member appeared to be moving in that direction.

While it is easy for the community to become dismayed by the lack of action, it should not allow its support for the board and the difficult task at hand to waiver. Now, more than ever, these volunteer representatives need our support in their search for a compromise solution.

Investigation into Ingoldsby tree deaths appreciated

Editor:

I wish to thank Mary Hincks (president of our lake association) for her, not only prompt, but very thorough investigation into the matter of road salt killing our trees in Ingoldsby.

I first contacted Anson, Hindon and Minden Deputy Reeve Lewis Stevens in early May of this year, and several times over the summer. He never did show.

I guess he was too full of his own importance to be bothered with such things as dead trees. The fact that many of these white pines are over 200 years old did not stir him at all. Or perhaps he just forgot how he became Deputy Reeve.

I later contacted the County Warden. He promised to take a look, but hasn't arrived. I finally got a promise that he would monitor the salt ... next year.

I sincerely hope, Jim, that you don't leave this thing too late. There is no way that we can bring back the trees that have already died or are dying. But, maybe if we act now we can save the rest.

The report from the Ministry was just what you would expect. Much to do about nothing. They think the best way to cover their butt is to sit on it.

I would also like to thank Jean Anthon for her prompt and genuine concern. I believe she was instrumental in putting things in motion.

I understand Jean is running for reeve (Anson, Hindon and Minden). Perhaps some new faces sitting on our county council would be a welcome sight.

They might even get a hold of their budget to stop these 15-35 per cent increases annually.

Once again, many thanks to Mary Hincks and the next reeve of Anson, Hindon and Minden, Jean Anthon.

Fortunate to live in Stanhope

Editor:

Hats off to the Stanhope Fire Department and their "mates" for the excellent dinner they put on in their drive to raise funds for a new emergency vehicle. We weren't able to attend the first one in the summer, but really enjoyed ourselves this past Saturday night. The food was great, the atmosphere very relaxing and the entertainment for the kids a nice added touch.

This is one of many examples of how fortunate Stanhope citizens are to have such a dedicated group of firefighters - along with their very supportive "significant others".

HSB chairman deserves a medal

Editor:

I attended the meeting of the Acting Health Services Board on Tuesday September 27 at the Haliburton Legion, and the first thing I want to say is that Stuart Baker should receive a gold medal for his handling of a very frustrating meeting.

I was under the impression (along with many others) that the Board's mandate was to consider the needs of Haliburton County and locate the Long term and Acute care beds central to most residents in the County. I did not know that their mandate extended to include a large portion of Victoria and Peterborough counties. I, and probably most of the tax payers of this County, would like to know if this comes from the Ministry of Health or not.

I understand that the Ministry of Health would prefer to have the Long Term and Acute Care Beds located under one roof in Haliburton village as it is central to all in the County of Haliburton, however they have given this Board the opportunity to make a choice. If they had delved into the history of the area there would not have been a choice.

Please stop bucking the Ministry or we will end up not receiving any help and some area that is willing to accept the Ministry's advice will get it.

'....from mediocre to the pathetic...'

So the Quebec election has come and gone and the bad guys won and, despite all the predictions, here we are, the Rest of Canada, still joined at the hip to Quebec.

Contrary to all the apocalyptic forecasts, the sky did not fall, great ragged chasms did not appear in the Canadian shield, and at last report, not a single owl had been heard hooting in the Bytown marketplace.

Haven't we sat through this movie before?

I think last time it was called Meech Lake. The experts that time also promised the world would end if we didn't do the Right Thing.

Elijah Harper and Clyde Wells went right ahead and did the Wrong Thing. Magically, the sun continued to rise and set, the tides did not stop rushing in and out. Chickadees continued to chirp.

I suppose its unpatriotic, but I tuned out long before Quebecers went to the polls last month. I quit paying attention when I heard that Paul Rose wouldn't be allowed to run in the election as an NDP candidate.

You remember Paul Rose, don't you? He entered Canadian politics back in 1970.

Mind you, Rose didn't choose the conventional route of campaigning for votes and getting himself elected by his constituents. Rose opted for the more direct method. He kidnapped a cabinet minister, strangled him with a neck chain and dumped his body in the trunk of a car.

Sure. That's the Paul Rose I'm talking about. The low grade treacherous thug who, with a couple of other back-alley vermin, kidnapped Pierre Laporte and murdered him in 1970.

Canadian justice being the awesome force it is, Rose was subjected to a severe tongue-lashing and forced to stay behind bars for 12 years before being granted full parole.

He seemed surprised to learn that election officials didn't think a convicted terrorist murderer should be allowed to run as a political candidate last month. Rose said he found "something

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

fishy" in the fact that he wasn't allowed to run.

I'll tell you what's fishy. What's fishy is, you'll never guess who is president of the New Democratic Party in Quebec.

Yup. Paul Rose.

Oh, Canada. Are we suicidal or just terminally dumb?

We have an Official Opposition Party dedicated to the destruction of the country it supposedly represents.

We have nine premiers from the other provinces who, meeting to discuss the future, go out of their way not to talk about Quebec separation.

We have a Prime Minister who thinks the best way to save the country is to pretend nothing is going on east of the Rideau.

And then there's the justice factor. A recent letter to the editor of the Globe and Mail summed it up rather succinctly. How come, asks the letter, the Americans can have O.J. Simpson in a courtroom two weeks after he allegedly murdered two people, while Canadians are still waiting to see Paul Bernardo in the dock more than two years after he allegedly committed the same crime?

The mills of the Gods grind slowly. The mills of Canadian justice don't appear to be moving at all.

I guess we should count our blessings. We still wake up each morning in the most wonderful country I've ever seen. A country that somehow, miraculously continues to bumble along despite the fools and crooks and cowardly swine who try to do her harm.

Thank God the calibre of our enemies still ranges from mediocre to pathetic — pompous asses like Parizeau, recycled felons like Paul Rose. We don't have to contend with World Class monsters like Carlos the Jackal.

Just as well.

If Carlos had ever shown up in Canada we probably would have made him Governor General.

Lost in a signal (and question) void

Editor:

Every so often I get comments about my granddaughter, isn't it great to have such an exceptionally inquisitive child around? One so eager to learn, so full of questions ... Yes, indeed it is, usually, and I only wish I had at least most of the answers. Still, some of these inquiries do test one's imagination, and patience.

For example, do I know if dinosaurs threw up? Or how big their poop piles were? Would one have gotten buried by one? Or if a Tyrannosaurus Rex had the manual dexterity to toss a baseball? How far? Why would it do that? (Because Gramma told her to!) Why isn't a female tyrannosaurus Rex called a T Regina? (OK, so why isn't she?)

How does a plant make a new leaf? Why are there different shoes? Why do animals have lots of fur? Do cats and dogs sweat in the summer? Why do we have so much fur on our heads, and not much anywhere else? Why do men have more? And why do men shave their faces and women shave their legs? What's beyond the stars? Why is it called the Milky Way; it only looks fuzzy not milky?

So, you think you'll just answer a question to the best of your limited abilities, and be done with it? Wrong! Each question promotes yet another one, ad infinitum. If you say shaving is a manifestation of local customs and in Europe only the ... I mean, in Europe women generally don't shave, she will immediately want to know why? Why are the customs different? What other customs are different? Do they shave in China?

"Gramma, what makes the brain work?" The brain ... the brain ... I dunno, mine overloaded 4862.37 questions ago; a little light at first flickered, while a message flashed 'working ...' and then the whole thing seized up.

The kid doesn't need a mother, she needs an encyclopedia, which gramma unfortunately is too broke to provide.

Of course, there is help ... in the form of TVO. 'Down South' TVO keeps her so occupied with new information that she has no time for inquiries. They don't even provide commercial breaks to facilitate further interrogation, yet often enough the programs promote discussions that she can take part in.

Besides, TVO knows how to present answers in a way an eight-year-old can grasp, rather than get completely befuddled. As in yours truly: "A leaf's growth pattern is determined by the plant's DNA..." "What's DNA?" "...as I was going to explain, the DNA is like a genetic ..." "What's genetic?" "Now if you'd let me finish just one sentence, maybe..." (Culkin on "Uncle Buck" is a rank amateur compared to this one.)

What about us older and, sometimes, wiser?

Upset with break-in

Editor:

This letter is addressed to the rotten people that trashed ASES.

Almost one week after the grand opening of ASES, after a year of frustration for students, teachers and parents, September 19 was special occasion to celebrate the joy of ASES's grand open house. One week later someone or persons broke in and made an awful mess of ASES with destruction and thefts.

My nine-year-old daughter phoned home Monday morning September 26, frantic with worry and upset about her school being trashed. The ones who did this vandalism also take from our children their sense of a safe haven at their school. Anyone who has ever had their home broken into, knows the feeling of being violated.

The ones who vandalized the school have also violated our children and put an undue fear in them.

I wonder who you are? Did you attend ASES? Have you no shame? You better think twice. Your stupid prank really hurts everyone, maybe even you.

Bonnie Luckie and family and many more
Minden

("Gramma, how did you get so old?" By not asking that question, and thus being allowed to live ..?) Little one came by her curiosity honestly at least; Gramma is equally nosy and wants to know what makes things tick. She's highly perturbed to get her TVO picture accompanied by a heavy snowfall, even in July.

The sounds nice and clear, but let's face it, TV is a visual medium, and golf lessons, for one, rather lose their points. Which one of those mini cottonballs is the actual ball he just pelted? (Are there fluorescent pink ones? Please substitute!)

Anyone else a wee bit tired of Sports and/or Soaps? (Sports and soaps ... another commercial?) And talk shows! They too should get together with the soaps; they are laundering in public. "My brother stole my husband." Yep, there's a truly relevant subject for the average wife. I bet sales of sleeping pills just soared.

I may be weird (okay, so I am). I see a bit of anything as okay, but soaps/talk shows as an exclusive afternoon diet? Nothing much but sports on weekends? Forget it. I think I'll go to the library ... alas, closed on Sundays.

So why not get cable then? Let's see now. Pay something around $60/month (that I don't have) to watch the ever so uplifting news from Detroit and the total irrelevant latest weather report from Edmonton? More talk shows? Sitcoms? Hours of patronizing commercials? Endless US political discussions? I don't think so.

I've been told TVO was meant for everyone in Ontario. Yet we in Haliburton County have fallen into a signal void and have to do without.

How come?

M. Young,
Minden.

Policy hurts development

Editor's Note: This letter, which first appeared in the September 26 edition of The Times, is repeated here to correct typographical errors which altered the writers point of view.

Editor:

I believe our biggest deterrent to the economy of Haliburton County is the Ministry of Natural Resources. They are not only spending millions (?), as in one instance planting a couple of 100 acres of white pine trees, they are also taking away millions and millions from the economy of the county by putting a freeze on various lakes throughout the county by not allowing any severances. They have also stopped the purchase of the 66 foot Lakeshore Road allowances. Why? Winter fishing?

In my situation on Kushog Lake, and this is by no means an isolated case, I have been trying, since 1990, to give three lakeshore lots to my children. I have received township, health, and Haliburton County land division approval. However, the MNR have seen fit to appeal these three approved severances and force an Ontario Municipal Board hearing. Of course this will be at our, the taxpayers', expense.

The MNR has declared Kushog Lake "a cold water lake trout fishery". They will allow no severances south of Ox Narrows Bridge, but they will allow severances north of Ox Narrows Bridge, where the deep water is. The average depth of the water south of the bridge is approximately 23 feet in the summer, and approximately 17 feet in the fall. Also, about 98 per cent of the undeveloped lakeshore on Kushog Lake is Crown Land. There are miles of this vacant land on the lake. What other lake is so fortunate?

Wouldn't it be nice to have your life savings invested in lakeshore property on say, Little Boshkung Lake then you wake up in the morning to find the MNR has put a freeze on the lake? However, if you had happened to choose Boshkung, or Twelve Mile Lakes, you can have severance.

Our bureaucracy is out of hand. Are our privately owned bush lands next?

Coaching, Leadership Fair planned for October 16

by Jerry Grozelle

If you are a volunteer and have an interest in improving your leadership, coaching or teaching skills, mark October 16 on your calendar. That is the day the "You Make a Difference" Coaching and Leadership Fair will be held at YMCA Wanakita on the north shore of Koshlong Lake near Haliburton.

Admission to the workshop is free.

"We want to make the volunteers in the area aware of the incredible difference they make in children's lives," said fair organizer Jim Blake. "Volunteers are really important, especially here in Haliburton County."

Blake says the focus of the fair's workshops is to help these volunteers (and potential volunteers) be the best they can be. The tools and techniques to do that, will be provided by the expertise of the people who will be conducting the workshops.

Five workshops will be conducted at the same time, with two leadership, two coaching and one general interest topics covered each time.

The first set of five workshops starts at 1:15 p.m. and runs for an hour and 15 minutes. The next set runs from 2:45 to 4 p.m. and the last set will run from 4:15 to 5:30 p.m.

Participants may mix and match workshops to suit their individual interests.

The coaching and leadership fair features a long list of impressive instructors.

Coaching workshop topics can be applied to any sport and volunteer coaches from all levels can benefit from the quality instructors Blake has been able to assemble.

A few examples of the topics covered and the high profile instructors include:

* Preventing Sports Injuries by master course instructor of the sports injury prevention and care program, Barry Bartlett. Bartlett is an advisor to the National Hockey League, National Figure Skating Association, National Tennis Team as well as the Montreal Olympics. He is also a master course conductor for the National Coaching Certification Program.

Another of Bartlett's coaching topics is Coaches, Parents, Children and Teens — Understanding Each Other.

* Coaching for Self Esteem by David Carmichael, Director of Research and Development with the Ontario Physical Education Association.

* Martin Tweyman, the co-founder of the MVP Baseball Academy and player for the World Champion Fastball Team from Richmond Hill, will conduct a workshop titled Winning, Losing and Everything In Between.

* Diane Warriner is an award winning coach of provincial and national softball championship teams. She will present the workshop titled Building the Winning Team — What Every Coach Needs to Know.

* What Does a Coach Do When a Kid is a Klutz? is another topic, one that deals with ideas and methods coaches can use with youngsters who are not natural athletes.

In the leadership category, topics are just as varied and interesting.

* Sally Moore, director of Creative Challenges will teach Games that Get You Somewhere and Team Building — The Art of Leading Groups.

* Jim McHardy, Director of Kinark Outdoor Centre will shed some light on dealing with troubled kids.

* Using Adventure with Teens is a topic that will be explored by Janine Papadopoulos. She is the founder and manager of "Into the Blue" Adventure Company and former director of the International Girl Guide Centre in Switzerland.

* The Leader's Bag of Tricks — Tips, Tricks, Magic and More Than You Could Ever Imagine, is a leadership workshop conducted by Thom Lambert, who calls himself the founder and intergalactic director of EdVentures.

* Helping Kids and Teens to Find Their Hidden Talents is a topic covered by Andy Rush, conductor of Blue Skies Choir, former director of the Blue Skies Music Festival and Drama and music teacher at Ernestville Secondary School.

General Interest topics include:

* Adventure Activities — Testing Your Limits, conducted by Erik Vreeken, program director of Y Outdoor Centre, YMCA-YWCA of Ottawa Carlton.

* Finding the Balance - Athletics and Life is a general interest workshop by Diane Warriner.

* Janine Papadopoulos will also moderate a workshop entitled What It Takes To Be Your Best. The panel for that workshop is expected to include Lesley Tashlin, a Haliburton Highlands native who was a member of the Canadian National Track team that finished sixth in the 100 metre hurdles at the 1994 Commonwealth Games. She was athlete of the year at HHSS in 1987.

Another, as yet unconfirmed, panelist is Taly Williams another former HHSS athlete who is now with the Toronto Argonauts CFL football team.

With the impressive list of topics and instructors, the Coaching and Leadership Fair is expected to be a popular event. Blake said that he would prefer people to register in advance so he will have an idea of the numbers of participants to expect. But, he adds that nobody will be turned away.

The event is for people of all ages who wish to increase their level of coaching/leadership skills. He says that if an 11 or 12 year old wants to take part in the workshops, that's fine with him.

The organizers of this event have covered all the bases. They have even arranged for free babysitting and child care services, activities for youngsters, special workshops for teens and a display of resources for coaches and leaders.

An Octoberfest dinner is planned from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. for those who want to make a day of it. Special rates for children under 16 and families will be in effect for the dinner.

The event is co-sponsored by SIRCH (Supportive Initiatives for Residents of Haliburton County) and YMCA Wanakita.

For more information or to register for the Coaching and Leadership Fair contact SIRCH at 457-1742.

Jim Blake has assembled an impressive list of instructors for the Coaching and Leadership Fair.

Playing hard: The Haliburton Redmen juniors followed the lead of their senior counterparts Friday, dumping the visiting Fenelon Falls Falcons 41-0. Neither Haliburton football team has allowed the opposition to score a point during the first two games of the season.

by Jerry Grozelle

Haliburton's junior Redmen football team has scored 87 points in two games. That is an amazing feat in itself, but the Redmen have kept the opposition scoreless in the process.

Fenelon's Falcons were the latest victims, falling 41-0 at the Haliburton field on Friday.

Mike Bradley was once again the outstanding player of the game. He scored four of Haliburton's six touch downs, including a 60-yard punt return in the second quarter.

Darren Mills scored one TD and Bill Dovell added one (on a passing lay) to the Haliburton total.

Redmen coach Bruce Griffith singled out Bradley, Mills, Quinten McCormack, James Jennings and Dwight Bryant as the stars of the game.

"Bradley ran for 280 yards," Griffith said. "His goal is to break Andy Bacon's record from two years ago of about 1,500 yards in a season — eight games."

Bradley is well on his way. In the first two games, he has amassed 530 yards.

Griffith also praised quarterback George Godfrey.

"He has quite an arm," the coach said. "He really puts some zip in the ball. We call him the man with the golden arm."

Griffith said that sometimes Godfrey's passes are a little too hot for the receivers to handle.

The first game of the season saw the junior Redmen romp to a 46-0 victory over the Lindsay Collegiate Spartans.

They play tomorrow in Haliburton against the I.E. Weldon Wildcats. Kick-off is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

The seniors will take to the field right after the junior game.

Boys' high school soccerSenior Redmen undefeated in three

A third win in as many games has been added to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School senior boys' soccer team record for the 1994 season.

Last Wednesday, the Haliburton Redmen moved into sole possession of first place in the seven-team Kawartha West league with a 3-1 win over the I.E. Weldon Wildcats in Lindsay.

The senior Redmen played a strong first half against the wind and capitalized on Weldon's mistakes to take a 3-0 lead. Two of those goals came in the first half.

"Jonathan Bishop scored on a penalty kick after Jerry Corby was hauled down from behind in the penalty area," said Haliburton coach Walter Tose. "Then, Jerry himself tucked the ball neatly in the net when the Weldon keeper mishandled the ball and let it slip by."

The second half saw Jim O'Neill catch the Weldon keeper out of position to loft the ball nicely over his head to score the third goal.

Mike Morrison had a chance to ice the game with a penalty kick and placed a hard low shot to the left side. The Weldon keeper, however, made amends for his earlier mistake and came up with a big save.

That save seemed to give the Wildcats the spark they needed and they fought to close the gap by one goal. But that was their only marker of the game.

"Congratulations to all team members on a fine win," Tose said.

Tose gave special mention to Ryan Goodall, Mike Ellis, Brandon Hatfield, Jonathan Bishop and goalkeeper Roberto Guerra, who made some key saves.

Juniors improving, coach LaPierre says

In spite of a 2-0 loss to the Weldon Wildcats last Wednesday, Haliburton Redmen junior boys soccer coach Dan LaPierre said his team is improving.

"The boys worked hard, and their game has improved," LaPierre said. "The halfbacks, especially, are well improved."

He said that the Weldon juniors have some experienced players who "outmaneuvered" his team, many of the members of which are inexperienced grade nine students.

"It was a really rainy day and we lacked the control Weldon had," the coach said.

The next game for the Haliburton soccer team is this Wednesday against the Falcons in Fenelon Falls.

HHSS senior grid iron crew dominates Fenelon

by Jerry Grozelle

In spite of a slow start, the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen senior football team came on like gang busters to trample the Fenelon Falls Falcons 41-0 Friday afternoon in Haliburton.

"We were very sloppy in the first quarter," said Redmen coach Gary Brohman. "We had three penalties, two fumbles and two interceptions in the first quarter."

Brohman said Fenelon controlled the play for most of the first quarter. At the end of the frame there was no score.

"In the second quarter, we got rolling," Brohman said.

Peter Brohman was shifted to tailback. He made about three first downs in a row to spark the Haliburton offense. He took the ball over for the first touchdown at about the seven minute mark of the second quarter.

Tim Stouffer kicked the convert for a 7-0 lead.

On Haliburton's next possession, quarterback Kevin Morrisette carried the ball wide and flicked it to Brohman who ran it 75 yards for the second touchdown. The convert attempt missed.

Still in the second quarter, Chris Dobbins scored the third TD for the Redmen, on another option play. They went for the two-point conversion and Aaron Tomlinson took the pass from Kevin Morrisette.

At the end of the first half, the Redmen led 27-0.

"After a terrible first quarter we sure got it going in the second quarter," coach Brohman said.

The Redmen had the wind in their faces for the second half, but they continued to dominate the Falcons. They marched the ball to the Fenelon three yard line with some good runs from Stouffer and Dobbins. From there, Kevin Morrisette passed off to his brother Mark for another touchdown.

Stouffer's convert attempt was good.

Thanks to some outstanding defensive play by Will Wallace, Jamie Fryer, Peter Brohman, Mark Morrisette and Anthony Mestroni, the Falcons were kept bottled up in their own end throughout the third frame.

Haliburton's domination continued into the fourth quarter.

Stouffer added one more TD on another option play. Morrisette pitched the ball out to Stouffer, who ran it in from about the 45 yard line. Stouffer made good on the convert.

The senior Redmen are undefeated in two games. In fact, they haven't had a point scored against them. In their first game, the Redmen blanked the Lindsay Collegiate Spartans 20-0.

Both the Haliburton senior and junior football teams will see action tomorrow in Haliburton. They will take on the I.E. Weldon Wildcats. The juniors will play first, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Guest speaker: Victoria-Haliburton Member of Provincial Parliament Chris Hodgson was the only MPP who was invited to speak at the firearms owners' rally in Ottawa on September 22. More than 10,000 people took part in the rally to protest the federal government's proposed legislation which, they say, would impose further unnecessary and expensive restrictions on honest, law-abiding gun owners.

Hodgson addresses Ottawa firearms owners' protest rally

by Peter Hynard

Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson was one of 24 speakers at the recent gun owners' rally on Parliament Hill. More than 10,000 hunters, target shooters and antique gun collectors assembled in Ottawa on September 22 to protest new gun control legislation now being drafted by Justice Minister Allan Rock and the federal government. The theme of the rally was "crime control, not further gun control".

Hodgson began by asking the federal government "not to do something for us, but to leave us alone". He complained that the time-honoured traditions of rural areas and tourism-based economies in this country are under attack because the government has wrongly chosen to over-regulate the activities of law-abiding citizens. Hodgson pointed out that Canada already has some of the toughest firearms controls in the world.

Hodgson pointed the finger of blame at the criminal element and said it is time to take the handcuffs off the police. He called for stiffer jail sentences and an end to plea bargaining for crimes committed with a firearm. Hodgson called the new federal proposals a "band-aid" solution, and said they would do nothing to reduce crime in Canadian society.

Hodgson was the only Member of Provincial Parliament who was invited to speak at the rally by organizers.

Earlier this year, Hodgson introduced a Bill in parliament that would "grandfather" the firearms acquisition certificate in Ontario. The Bill was passed by a two-thirds majority of the House. But the NDP chose to ignore the wishes of the majority of the members of the House of Commons.

Other speakers at the Ottawa rally included federal MP's, Canadian Olympic medal winners in shooting competitions and Rick Morgan, Executive Vice-President of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters. Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly was also on hand to support the protesters. He is one of about 30 Liberal MP's who are opposed to some of the gun control measures being proposed by the justice minister.

Editor's note: Peter Hynard is a member of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association. He attended the September 22 rally in Ottawa.

CAS budget approved

by Jerry Grozelle

Bob Penny and John Grasswell of the Children's Aid Society attended the September Haliburton County Council meeting to explain how the society plans to "tackle the mysteries of child welfare funding," as Penny put it.

"1994 has been the most difficult year in the history of the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society," Penny said.

He pointed out that the society has had to deal with cutbacks to the level of funding from the 1991 budget.

"We've laid off 25 per cent of our staff," he said. "It has been tremendously stressful."

He added that two group homes were closed and the society's spending has been reduced by about $1-million.

Although demand for services has dropped off dramatically, the society is expected to run a deficit of about $150,000 this year. But, by the end of 1995, it is expected that the books will be balanced and a small surplus may even be realized.

Penny insisted that even with staffing cutbacks, the service to Haliburton County hasn't been impacted.

Grasswell explained how the county's share of the $5.46-million budget has been determined. He said that the "child in care" portion of the budget was the biggest expense. That figure is divided by the number of children in care within each municipality.

Stanhope Reeve Fred Gardner asked if the society could have its budget prepared in time for municipalities to consider it at budget time.

Penny responded by saying that Gardner's question has often been repeated by other municipalities. He passed the blame on to the provincial government.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Bern Berry said that since 1989 services have been cut and staff has been reduced yet the cost to Haliburton County has risen from $63,000 to more than $95,000.

"From my point of view, we're getting less services and it's costing us more," he said.

Penny responded by saying that the reduction in staff has had no effect on the level of services and that the increased cost is a reflection of the number of children in care.

AHM Deputy-Reeve Lewis Stevens expressed some concern about the stated closure of two group homes and the effect on the children who lived at those facilities. Penny said that although the society was no longer operating the homes, they are still continuing with their services. He explained that one of the people who faced a layoff from one of the group homes acquired the necessary training to take over operation of the homes and is now providing the services for less than what it was costing the society to operate them.

"It has had no impact on the children," Penny assured Stevens.

County council voted to accept the society's estimate of net expenditures for 1994 of $7,572,664. The county's share of that amount is $95,430.

Hyland Crest says 'Thanks'

Tribute paid to volunteers

On Friday September, 23, Hyland Crest honoured its volunteers with a special tea party. Over 50 people were recognized for their many hours of volunteer work.

Warden Jim McMahon awarded volunteers with service pins, and Administrator Gary McKnight presented the resident volunteers their pins. Among the many recipients was Kathy Woods, who was named Volunteer of the Year. The honour was a result of polling of the residents. Kathy is an active helper who is involved in many aspects of the Home's activities. She thanked the residents for the honour.

Receiving pins for their efforts and hours put into volunteering were: Jackie Taylor, for the weekly tuck cart, Lenore Troup, for the tuck cart on Saturdays, Muriel Mark, who has been the Auxiliary treasurer for eight years, and president for two years, Pat Scott, who is a regular volunteer at the weekly tea party, Doris Hart, who has been an auxiliary member for 10 years, Jackie Andress, who is a craft volunteer, member of Mary's quilting circle, and has donated many hand crafts for the arts and crafts auction which raised over $2,000 for the new activity area.

Mervin Berry, is a very valuable bus driver. Mabel Deacon, attends and helps on bus trips. Elva Deacon, entertains on Saturdays or whenever needed, and also assists on the bus for special outings. Liz Alrutz helps with the driver's program, and with the baking and cooking program. Lorraine Hutchinson entertains on special occasions. Donna Wallace is a regular craft volunteer. John Menzies entertains on weekends, Sandra Patenaude attends the weekly tea party to assist residents to the party and helps them to socialize. Dick Schell is the home's Santa Claus as he brings gifts to the residents every Christmas morning. Everett Fairey entertains weekends and evenings.

Kathleen Owens is a long standing volunteer who has presented special performances with Highland pipers and Scottish dancers. Less Schell comes to sing and play at happy hour. Sid Cooper is a fiddler who comes regularly with his brother Earl and Less Schell for happy hour. Bryn Gray is a talented piano students who provides entertainment on weekends. William Mac shows slides of far away places and allows the residents to travel without leaving home. Molly McCarthy is the volunteer ghost writer for the pen pal program. Jean Robson assists on bus trips and outings. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster share their singing talents and provide entertainment on bus trips, picnics, barbecues, special occasions and holidays.

Jock Mavor entertains residents on special occasions, weekends and holidays. Dianna Williams plays and entertains with the piano. Estella Burch reads novels out loud to the residents every Sunday. Marion Fisher is a Sunday organists and a friendly visitor.

Doris Grant works hard with other Auxiliary members doing special functions. June Mason provides music from the organ on Sundays. Reverend Peter Walford-Davis is the chairman of the Pastoral Care Committee and does regular services in the chapel. Lorna Roland is an organist for Sunday night chapel. John Thomas is a member of the driving program and assists the residents during bus outings. Dick and Sylvia Thompson drive and help on special outings. Bonnie Fullman does the monthly activity calendar for the orientation board. and Denzil Cox, Ross Cheeseman, Hazel Austin, Dorothy Hunter and Lenora Prentice help with the driving program.

Receiving resident pins for their many different efforts around the home were: Alice Todd, Lillian Harrison, Ken Anderson, Lola Prentice, Judy Stevenson, Lillian Davidson, Nora Groves, Corrine Bonneville, Winnifred Barnum, Alice Rivers and Edith Brittain. The Hyland Crest staff would like to express their appreciation and congratulate each and every one who received pins, and others who do spend time helping the residents.

Exchange student embarks on a year of discovery

by Kelly Pettinger

He will spend his time in a new country, with a new family, new friends, a new home and a whole new life. That is what Minden's Rotary Exchange student Mark Mulder is looking forward to for the next 11 months.

Mark, 16, hails from Konjulianalaan, in the eastern part of Holland, and has been staying with his first host family, Tara and Paul Lowe, and their children Barry, Chelsea and Justice, for the past month.

Unlike exchange students from Minden who travel to different countries, Mark did not go to a language school for two weeks because most of the people in European countries speak English in addition to their mother tongue. "Because I didn't have to go to a language school, I didn't get to meet other Rotary students when I got here. But last weekend I went to Bracebridge for a Rotary barbecue with other students. It was great meeting so many new people. I went windsurfing, which is one of my favourite sports, and I went rollerblading too," said Mark.

Although he has been here for a month, Mark says he is still homesick. "Every night after dinner I go outside to the mailbox and think about home. I just hope I make lots of new friends," he said.

Mark attends HHSS and takes Grades 10, 11 and 12 courses. He said he has to get used to the longer classes, and the bigger school. "School is fun, but it's really big. The school I went to only had 130 students and everybody knew everybody. It was tough in the beginning trying to meet new friends, but I am making more every day," he said.

He has a younger sister in Holland, but was not used to the bigger family lifestyle. "It gets busy having three younger kids around. They want to play all the time, but they do understand if I want to be alone for a while. Paul and Tara are great parents. They're lots of fun," said Mark.

The Lowes had no problem adjusting to an extra body in the house. "I'm a Rotarian, and in order to be a part of the program you have to be a member of the club. The first year we joined, we couldn't have a student because we lived in a townhouse. It would have been cramped.

"Last year we had a girl come and live with us from Denmark. It was our first taste of what it will be like when our kids turn into teenagers. We got to know how teens think, and what they need. Signe was our test model. When Mark came, we were prepared for anything. He's been a great kid," said Tara.

"Our kids have really taken to him. The first day he came here they were fighting over who gets to sit next to him at the dinner table. They still do," said Paul.

Mark feels that Canada has a lot of similarities to Holland, but there are differences. "The speed limit is 40 kilometres slower here, and the age limits are a lot different. In Holland you can drink and go to discos when you are 16, but you can't get your license until you're 18. I really miss going out to discos every Friday and Saturday night," said Mark.

Mark Mulder is surrounded by his new Minden family the Lowes, clockwise, Justice sitting on his lap, Paul, Chelsea, Barry and Tara

Mark said he knows he will enjoy his stay in Minden and looks forward to meeting new people and seeing new places so he can tell the 96 people he has to write to all about his new Canadian life.

A very special week that all Canadians can be proud of.

Board of education selling bonds to finance expenses

By Andrew Milne

The Haliburton County Board of Education decided in closed session September 27 on a plan to sell bonds to cover approximately $5 million worth of expenses.

The board retained Levesque, Beaubien, Geoffrion Incorporated to market the bonds, which cover, in addition to other things, expenses incurred during the recent $4.6 million addition to Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden.

At the September 27 board meeting, John Hughes, Vice-President of Levesque et al presented a number of plans for the format of the debenture.

Said Hughes, "Probably the most convenient repayment schedule would be to amortize this debenture financing over a one to 20 year period... but the market for one to 20 year installment debentures for Ontario school boards is really down to two financial institutions. Now those two financial institutions are aware that they are the only buyers. So it is not as though we could go in... and negotiate for what I would consider a premium price for the security... so I don't think we want to go that route."

"The compromise I would like to suggest to you," continued Hughes, "is to take that one to twenty year amortization, but we're going to take the long-term debentures and push them up into the tenth year in the form of a refundable maturity... [That way] in the tenth year, you have the option of refinancing the remainder of the issue."

The advantage of this Hughes explained was that "Short term interest rates are always lower than long term interest rates... so the odds are that if you take this one to 20 year debenture issue and then break it down into a one to ten year issue and then re-fund the balance, again... that no matter what the level of the market is, you're doing it at the cheaper rate both times..."

"The other thing is," he continued, "the best possible way you could insulate yourself from really bad rates in 2004, would be if you were possibly in the position to squirrel away a little money each year... Say over the ten years, if you could build up half a million dollars in that reserve fund so that in ten years when it's time to refinance, instead of refinancing three million five you're only refinancing three million, it doesn't matter what the interest rates are, because your principal amount is so much lower."

Some division seemed to arise when director of education Brad Saunders inquired whether it would be to the board's advantage if the debenture were arranged so they could refinance after a shorter period — say maybe five years.

Hughes responded that there were advantages and disadvantages to such a scheme, but that he hadn't come prepared to discuss them.

The board seemed divided. Some members felt it was unlikely they would be able to put away the money to pay down any amount of the principal in the fifth year, and that the additional risk was too great. Others seemed to want to look into it.

They moved to closed session. When they came out they had settled on the plan Hughes had proposed, with the option to refinance after ten years.

Funding and expansions were at the heart of much of the September 27 meeting. Also on the agenda was a discussion of the staffing challenges with which the board is dealing, in the face of a student population that is increasing while funding pressures and the social contract prevent the hiring of more staff. Total student enrolment for the county up to 2335 from 2032 over the last four years.

"We cannot absorb a reduction in staff and an increase in enrolment without there being a certain amount of pain," said Saunders, "and we are feeling some pain in a number of different respects."

Hodgson gets PC nod

by Andrew Milne

The provincial Progressive Conservatives will run Chris Hodgson as their candidate in this riding in the next election.

The riding association acclaimed Hodgson as their candidate September 28 at a nomination meeting held at Ridgewood Public School in Coboconk.

Hodgson is the incumbent.

There was some humor but there were no surprises at the meeting as the letters of intent to stand for the position were read. Hodgson's was the only letter, and he was thus acclaimed.

Hodgson seems quite popular in the riding, and most observers felt his nomination was something of a foregone conclusion.

He was elected to his seat in a recent by-election when Dennis Drainville, the New Democratic Party member who had held it previously, resigned from the party and from his seat to run as an independent in the federal election.

The by-election made Hodgson one of a very few PC ministers at Queen's Park, in a parliament dominated by the NDP, which had swept the Liberals from power in the last election.

Hodgson spoke briefly on what an elected PC government would do at Queen's Park. Said Hodgson, "We'd start by reducing the amount of money the Ontario government spends. Presently we're spending $55 billion a year. We want to reduce that to $49 billion. Just ten years ago, we provided all the government services with just $29 billion... We're convinced that with better management we can provide better service than you're getting now, even with that $6 billion reduction."

"We'll find that $6 billion reduction by cutting areas that... are non-priority spending areas. The areas that we feel are priorities for the government are health care — especially with an aging population this is more essential now that it has ever been; with a global economy the money spent towards classroom education should be protected. If we need to compete in a global economy we're going to need young people to have the skills to earn that higher standard of living. And we also feel that law enforcement should not be cut back anymore; if we want to have safe streets and safe communities to raise our families. Other areas that will not be touched are the areas that have been hammered over the last five years: the Ministries of Natural Resources and Agriculture."

Victoria Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson, left, will carry the PC banner into the next provincial election. His candidacy was confirmed at a riding meeting held Wednesday in Coboconk. He was unopposed.

Hodgson also said a PC government would cut the provincial income tax by 30 percent — a move that would cost the government around $4 billion. "That's $4 billion for us to spend in our own communities, to spend where we choose," said Hodgson.

"Economically, we have to downsize the public sector, and to build up the private sector."

Home Buying 101

Last week we pretended you were a first-time buyer and I showed that the little house pictured above would be not only an economical purchase, but a smart one as well.

This week let's suppose you were a retired couple or a pensioner on a fixed income. You believe, like all persons of your generation, that a home should be owned outright, and that frugality is #3 in the queue behind Godliness. You read The Joy of Cheap, clip coupons, phone long distance only on Sundays, save string, turn off lights behind people, and covet every cent that you earn. You're out shopping for a home, prepared to pay cash for a nice little residence, and have given your real estate agent strict instructions that you won't look at anything over $100,000.00.

This home's for you. The basic features are 912 sq. ft., two bedrooms, main floor laundry, drilled well, full insulated basement. The house sits on a level lot about a mile from Minden in a nice residential community serviced by cable TV. It was designed from top to bottom to save energy and money by the use of thorough insulation, airtight windows, an efficient fireplace, and a ventilation system which recovers the heat from the air before it is discharged from the house. We're talking about R20 walls, R42 ceiling, attic ventilation and individual thermostats in every room. This is a full R2000 home and if you're not sure what that is or what it means, CALL.

I have it on good authority this home cost about $120.00 to heat and supply with electricity last February - and I dare you to compare that figure to your own home.

This home is priced at $95,000.00 and if you like to save a dollar or two as a way of maximizing your fixed income, then call me without delay... you're probably spending money needlessly!

SIRCH appoints community liason

Susan Wilson has been appointed Community Liason Worker for the Women's Emergency House. The announcement was made last week by Gena Robertson, Executive Director of SIRCH.

The Women's Emergency House will be a safe place here in the county where women and their children seeking to leave abusive relationships can go for a week or two while they decide what steps to take next. At present, women in this situation who have no place else to go must leave the county. Frequently, this is not an option (because, for instance, the children are in school) and so the women stay in a dangerous domestic environment.

Wilson's role will be to build on the community support for the house already generated by Jude King, Project Facilitator for the past year. "The level of support in the community for the Women's Emergency House is quite impressive," Wilson said. "My job will be to sustain and enhance that broad-based commitment, to make sure everybody knows how much everybody else believes in this project, and to help people find practical ways to express their support."

Robertson and Wilson both gave great credit to King for the work she has already done. King is currently on maternity leave; she will be returning to the Emergency House project next spring to train volunteers.

SIRCH (Supportive Initiatives for Residents in the County of Haliburton) is a non-profit multi-service agency that provides counselling, crisis support, respite care, and other forms of support to the people of the county.

Kinark work recognized by North American association

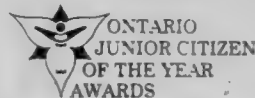

Kinark Child and Family Services was presented with an Award for Outstanding Management by the Child Welfare League of America at its Biennial Leadership Summit, in Scottsdale, Arizona, September 28.

CWLA paid tribute to outstanding services in two categories - Board Leadership and Outstanding Management. Kinark was selected a winner in the Outstanding Management category, of the CWLA mid-Atlantic region, for this prestigious award.

Kinark is one of the largest children's mental health services in Ontario, providing service to over 3,600 children and their families.

Through the delivery of a range of services, Kinark works to strengthen the lives of children with emotional, behavioural and social problems and their families.

"One in every crowd"

In every crowd there is a young person aged 6 to 18 years, who is involved in worthwhile community service or a special individual who is contributing while living with physical or psychological limitation or perhaps a brave youth who has performed an act of heroism. You could honour this young person, with the help of Bell Canada and the Ontario Community Newspapers Association by nominating them for an Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Award. To nominate a young person in our community please contact this newspaper today.

MNR explains timber plans

by Andrew Milne

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) announced its timber management plan for the next five years at an open house September 26.

MNR timber management plans govern forestry practices on crown land, including thinning, harvesting, and other activities, and are done every five years. Activities proposed under the new plan will not begin until the spring of 1996. Over the five years, (1996-2001), it controls just under 10,000 acres of forest lands will be logged, of which about 90 percent by area will be selectively cut, and 10 percent will be clear-cut.

Peter Hynard, a forester with the Minden MNR, was present at the open house at the Minden Community Centre. Hynard says the open houses are for people who would like to know about what is going to be done — particularly those living on lands adjacent to areas that will be affected. Says Hynard, "The public can come here and find out how much wood we're going to cut, which stands of timber will be cut... and exactly how it is going to be cut. So if you're an adjacent landowner or you have a hunt camp nearby you want to know if (the area) is going to be clear-cut, or cut selectively, or thinned... and how it will be treated afterwards to restore its productivity."

Hynard explains that the open house is also to solicit comments from the public — particularly those who live near or know the affected areas — about the plan. "Maybe we missed some value that they know about. Or maybe they disagree that the protection we're giving to that snowmobile trail or heronry is adequate to protect it. And they can make those comments and we'll listen to them and take that into account."

Other values might include any number of things — land used for snowmobiling, skiing or hiking is seen as having recreational value, and forested areas supporting certain types of wildlife also require consideration. Hynard points to one stand slated for selective cutting which overlooks a river flowing into a trout pond.

"This is a cold water stream that feeds Sherborne Lake," he says. "We don't want to warm up the water before it hits the lake because it's a trout lake."

Trout, he explains, do best in colder waters, in which more oxygen is dissolved. Therefore, in the selective cut on the land around the stream, a buffer zone will be left so the stream is shaded properly, and doesn't warm up in the summer sun.

There are several different types of forestry practices involved in the next timber management plan. The generally unpopular clear-cuts, Hynard says, are done only in pine forests, after which the area is burned. The reason for this procedure is that pine are believed to grow best under the dry, difficult conditions that prevail after an area is burned, primarily because competing species don't tolerate the conditions nearly so well. Says Hynard, "When it's hot and dry and impoverished and a little more hostile, like it is (after a burn), it doesn't slow the pine down a bit. It now has a competitive advantage over other plants."

Hardwood forests, by contrast, are cut selectively.

Says Hynard, "We pick out the trees that are mature. We pick out the trees that are defective and should be weeded from around better trees... the idea is to pick our best trees, and to cut down their competitors, and then to grow (the best ones) further."

Persons wishing to make comments on the timber management plan should forward them to the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources. For additional information on details of the plan, contact Peter Hynard at the Minden MNR, at 286-1521.

MNR spokesperson Dana Kinsman discusses the ministry's timber management plans with two members of the public who attended the open house.

October is mental illness awareness month

October has been designated Mental Health Awareness Month in Ontario. Several community events have been planned to highlight the topic.

A community forum is planned for October 12. Anxiety and stress management will be discussed. The forum will be held at the Echo Hills Home Support office in Haliburton between 7 and 9 p.m. Dr. Elspeth MacEwan will be the speaker.

Other events include a doctor's forum on October 11, a service providers forum on October 12 and consumer workshop October 13. For more information, contact Michael VanderBroek at the County Counselling Centre at 457-5353.

TSW report

Recent rainfall has slowed the decline on the reservoir lakes to a loss of 3.2 per cent over the past week, down to an average of 49.2%. The water levels for this summer are still above the 19 year average.

The Kawartha lakes are up some from last week despite an increase in Otonabee River flow. Higher than normal flows can be expected as releases are made to take care of the surplus.

Lake Simcoe-Couchiching and Lake Scugog have declined, reaching levels which are beginning to inconvenience some boaters, however, a return to wetter conditions may help to offset this condition.

Contest win could be the 'big break'

by Kelly Pettinger

Although we haven't seen her for a while, singer Sheri Hawkins is back on track after winning a singing contest at the Lindsay Fair September 10.

The "Backyard Boogie" contest, co-ordinated by Lindsay radio station CKLY, was months in the making. Radio announcer Dave Illman said the contest took a lot of time and effort from start to finish.

"The contest ran for about two months. We had about 40 people send tapes (of their song) into the station for the contest. Our staff went over and over the tapes and finally came up with three songs we liked best. We contacted the people and asked them to come to the Fair and sing. We picked the winner after they sang in front of the crowd at Fountain Park," said Illman.

Hawkins said she wasn't sure if she wanted to enter the contest, but joined after some persuading from some of her friends. She searched for a tape she had made years before, to send in, and found it in the back of a friend's dump truck wedged into a boot.

"I dusted it off and sent it in to the station. I thought, 'What can I lose?' Well, I guess the contest... but I liked the song I sang on the tape. It's a Patsy Cline song called Walking After Midnight. It's a great song," said Hawkins.

After sending the tape in to the station, each of the three finalists' songs was to be played a couple of times on the air for one day. "I guess they really liked my song, because they kept playing it on different days. Friends of mine would phone me up and tell me that they heard my song on the radio. I would always miss it," said Hawkins.

As a chosen finalist, Hawkins had to sing three different songs live for the final judging. She belted out Mustang Sally, At This Moment and The Circle to a very receptive crowd.

Hawkins was thrilled when she heard her name called and rushed up to the stage to thank her friends. "I got up there, and I was so happy and nervous that I forgot half of the people I wanted to thank," she said.

The grand prize was two tickets to a Maple Leaf hockey game. Hawkins was disappointed with the prize because she dislikes hockey, but was happy to give the tickets to a young hockey fan whom she knew would be delighted to go.

But in the end Hawkins did get a prize she had been looking for. A producer, who had heard Hawkins sing on the program called the station last Thursday and wanted to get in touch with her. "I'm not sure what he wants exactly, but it may be the break I've been looking for."

Municipal building expansion contract awarded

Items from the September 22 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council.

Expansion of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office council chamber/court facility is expected to begin immediately. The tender for the project was awarded to Michael Monteith Enterprises Ltd. of Orillia with a bid of $579,900.

The project will take 36 weeks to complete.

FAC debate

Concerns about the requirements for a firearms acquisition certificate (FAC) were discussed. Councillor Jeanne Anthon asked for information regarding FACs and that information was provided by a director of the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association.

The association is in favour of "grandfathering" (exempting those who already had an FAC before the new regulations were passed in January 1994 from having to take the course and write the examination).

Councillor Grant Plooard mentioned that MPP Chris Hodgson introduced a resolution in provincial parliament that supported grandfathering of the FAC. Plooard added that the resolution was passed, but the NDP government has done nothing about it.

Plooard added that MP John O'Reilly "is working on this issue as well".

About half of the practical portion (firearm handling) of the examination is the safe handling, transport and storage of handguns. Since only a very small percentage of FAC applicants have any interest in acquiring a handgun, it was suggested by an outdoors association official that a separate test be issued for those who have an interest in handguns.

Reeve Bern Berry said: "It would seem to make sense to have two separate courses, one specific to handguns."

Deputy-Reeve Lewis Stevens said that there are a lot of opinions on the subject besides those of the government.

"In an area like this, firearms are a tradition," Berry said.

He cited, as an example, an old photograph which appeared in The Echo recently of four brothers, all of whom are holding firearms.

Free skating

Council has reversed a decision to charge $1 for public skating.

The Recreation Committee, which is comprised of all council members, had voted to institute a $1 charge to skate. Berry pointed out that he was the only one who voted against the $1 charge and he said he was pleased that his fellow councillors had a change of heart.

"It has been my experience that if you charge a dollar for something you'll get 30 people out and if it's free you'll get a hundred," Berry said after the meeting.

Councillor Plooard, who is chairperson of the Recreation Committee, pointed out that, as chairperson, he did not vote on the motion.

Learning experience

The Grade 6 students from Mrs. Bernie Davis' class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School got a taste of municipal politics in action. The 28 students attended the September 22 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Council.

Reeve Berry welcomed the class and briefly outlined what council does. He gave Davis township pins for each of the students on behalf of council.

It was the second time in two days that Davis' students were in council chambers. They attended part of the County Council meeting the day before.

Municipal employees have found their job site shrouded in morning mist lately as they work along the north bank of the Gull River. The project involves the replacement of the retaining wall and a reduction in the slope down to the river's edge.

Mixed reviews for licencing boaters

Feelings were mixed at the September 21 meeting of Haliburton County Council regarding a resolution from the Town of Wasaga Beach proposing that a mandatory boat safety course/operator's licence and operator age limit of 16 years be imposed on boaters.

Warden Jim McMahon and Snowdon Reeve George Simmons both spoke in favour of the proposal, stating that some type of regulation was necessary.

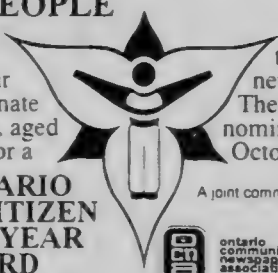

Dysart Et Al Reeve Curry Bishop went so far as to recommend a moratorium on further regulations of any kind and a reduction in regulations in general. He said that people should be held responsible for their actions and that the reason for insurance was to take care of the accidents that occur.

Glamorgan Reeve Bev MacDuff expressed the concern that there aren't the resources to police such legislation if it were brought into effect and that local municipalities could be required to enforce such laws. Given the number of lakes and navigable rivers and streams in the county, she said that it isn't feasible to enforce such laws.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN

NOTICE

(File No. SRA-94-04)

IN THE MATTER OF the Municipal Act; and
IN THE MATTER OF a proposed by-law of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to stop up, close and convey to the adjoining landowner portions of the original allowance for road along the shore of Brady Lake, lying in front of Part Lot 4, Concession 5, in the Township of Minden.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 300 (1) (a) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1990, as amended, that the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held in the Municipal Council Chambers on Milne Street, Minden, Ontario, on November 10, 1994 at the hour of 7:30 p.m., a by-law to stop up, close and convey those parcels of land more particularly described as follows:-

Parts of the original allowance for road along the shore of Brady Lake, lying in front of Part Lot 4, Concession 5, designated as Part 1 on a preliminary plan of survey dated July 11, 1994.

The plan of survey is available for inspection in the Municipal Office, at Minden, Ontario during regular office hours.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that before passing the said by-law at the meeting to be held at the time and place above-mentioned, the Council shall then and there hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor, or agent, any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected by the said by-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED AT THE Township of Minden this 28th day of September, 1994.

Hampton objects to increased train traffic through Algonquin

Natural Resources Minister Howard Hampton formally called on federal Environment Minister Sheila Copps and the federal Cabinet to reconsider a decision of the National Transportation Agency (NTA) to reconsider a decision made last week to increase rail traffic through Algonquin Park (last Wednesday). Appeal of NTA decisions to Cabinet is provided for in federal legislation.

"The decision was made without an environmental assessment, even though it may quadruple the rail traffic through Algonquin Park," said Hampton. "I am appealing directly to the federal Cabinet and Sheila Copps to protect the park from the serious risk of a polluting rail accident."

The decision, which was made at the NTA in November 1993, allows Canadian National (CN) and Canadian Pacific (CP) railways to shift the rail traffic from a CP line which runs around Algonquin Park. This will increase rail traffic through the park — including trains which carry hazardous chemicals — from four to a possible 16 trains a day. The traffic would also adversely affect wildlife and park visitors.

"Ontario strongly supported the Federation of Ontario Naturalists and the Wildlands League in their appeal of the NTA decision to the Federal Court of Appeal," said Hampton. "We were disappointed when the appeal was turned down in August."

"Almost all of the rail line through Algonquin Park runs beside the lakes and rivers of the Petawawa waterway system," he added. "An accident in this remote area could pollute the water supply and cause serious damage to the park ecosystem."

Hampton has proposed the use of an existing connection that links the CN and CP lines, or the construction of a new connection that will avoid both Pembroke and Petawawa. Either solution would remove rail traffic from Pembroke and from Algonquin Park.

The HALIBURTON COUNTY COMMUNITY ACTION GROUP ON ALCOHOL AND DRUGS

is seeking

NEW MEMBERS!!

The community Action Group (CAG) is a sub-committee of the Haliburton Social Action Committee. The purpose of the CAG is to increase public awareness of issues and concerns related to drug and alcohol use/misuse. Our main focus has been to organize the community-wide campaign for Drug Awareness Week in November.

The CAG is made up of volunteers. The group meets approximately 10 times per year. We are always in need of new ideas and energy to keep the group's message to the community interesting and fun.

If you are looking for more information about the CAG and/or if you are interested in joining the group, please contact Michele Bromley at FourCAST Addiction Services at 286-4897.

Red Umbrella Inn hosts seniors

This has been a beautiful week and we were able to do so many activities.

Sunday Barb Fawcett was here to play the piano for the afternoon. Sunday was quiet until chapel service in the evening. The service was taken by Reverend John Burgess and the music was played by Lorna Roland. We certainly thank John and Lorna for their help.

Monday Linda led us in a game of "solving problems". We would soon solve the woes of the world if we were given the chance, or make them worse.

Tuesday the chapel service was conducted by Pastor Fast. Jean Cox was the organist. Pastor Fast brought us a very comforting message and we thank him and Jean very much. After chapel there was a meeting of the pastoral advisory committee in the chapel. My dear friends Evelyn and Lloyd Coleman took me out to lunch after the meeting.

In the afternoon we had crafts. Corinne and Pearl managed our card games in the evening. Thanks Corinne and Pearl.

Wednesday was a banner day for us. We got up and ready to take a bus trip to the Red Umbrella Inn for a delicious luncheon. There were 24 residents and volunteers. Mr. and Mrs. Tustin came out to greet us and guide us to our seats that overlooked beautiful Twelve Mile Lake. When we finished our very tasty lunch, we were invited to sit in the games room. Some played shuffleboard and we had a sing-song with Doris on the piano. We then loaded the bus for our trip home. The residents heartily thank our host and hostess and helpers for a delightful afternoon. Thank you Dottie for the ice cream treat. It seems the bus cannot get by the Kawartha Dairy without going in. We thank you again, Dottie Muirhead, Jean Robson, and John Thomas, along with Linda and Doris, who made it all possible.

There were two birthdays in September. Congratulations to Anne Collison, September 20, and Cora Upton, September 22.

Our sympathies to the family and friends of Kathleen Wren, who passed away Friday, September 23.

Thursday Tea Party was held in the auditorium. The ladies from the Kinmount United Church provided and served the tea party. It was enjoyed by everyone. Ladies providing the party were: Olga Elias, as pianist, Mary Ferns, Laurie Dettman, Joyce Brown, Joyce Strang, and Ruth Schultz. Pat Scott helped with residents. Thank you everyone for a lovely afternoon.

Friday, in place of happy hour, a volunteer appreciation tea was held in the auditorium. The tables were nicely set up. At the head table were Gary McKnight, Terry Noble and Jim McMahon. Volunteer of the year, Kathy Woods, was chosen by the residents. The volunteer with most hours went to both Muriel Harrington and Dottie Muirhead. Several resident volunteers and home volunteers were recognized and presented with volunteer service pins. The music was played by Lorraine Hutchinson. A beautiful assortment of sandwiches, veggie trays, fruit and goodies, were provided by the dietary department. Carol Martin and Vicki Coppins are to be congratulated for a terrific job.

Long-Term Care committee

Planning for the special needs of area residents

District Health Councils across the province have been given the responsibility of taking a lead role in planning long-term care services in their communities. To this end, the province has asked that Long-Term Care Committees of the District Health Council be established to assist Council in advising the Ministers of Health and Community and Social Services on issues of long-term care planning and greater integration of health and social services.

Long-term care (LTC) is that range of personal care, community supports and health services provided to seniors and persons with physical disabilities. The services may be provided at home, at school, in the work place or in long-term care facilities.

Some examples of long-term care services are: meals on wheels, transportation, homemaking, attendant care, palliative care, senior day programs, home care nursing.

The present LTC system (facility-based and community-based services) is facing difficult challenges including an aging population, economic pressures, fragmentation of services and demands for more consumer input. The changes to the system proposed by the Ontario Ministry of Health are intended to:

- provide easier access to the broad range of LTC services
- integrate health and social services
- support people in their homes longer to avoid/delay institutional placement
- allow more consumer participation and control

The District Health Councils (DHC) have a lead in planning the reform of the long-term care system. That is to say, with the advice and assistance of the Long-Term Care Committees, Council will make recommendations to the Ministers on local health, social and housing needs and related funding. The Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge District Health Council is responsible for this planning and implementation across the counties of Haliburton, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria.

Because of the immense geographic area served, there is a Long-Term Care Committee in each one of these counties. Each reports to a centralized Coordinating Committee of Council.

The LTC Committees across the province are comprised of up to one-third consumers, one-third service providers and one-third "other" members. A representative of the Ministry of Health's Long-Term Care Area Office is a non-voting member. A member of the district Health Council chairs the Committees in most cases.

The Haliburton County committee was formed in June of this year and, in keeping with the provincial long-term care reform, is carrying on much of the long-term care work initiated by the Haliburton County Planning and Development Committee.

This committee currently meets the first Thursday of the month (except for October), 4:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m., alternating locations between Minden village and Haliburton village. Meetings of this committee are open to the public. Please call Kate Reed at 286-3892 to confirm meeting dates and times.

Members of the Haliburton County Long Term care committee include: Lynda Easton, chair; service providers Ruby Way, Barb Fraser, Marilyn Pennycook (one vacancy); consumers Carol Dewey, Lorne Sills and Rose Farr (one vacancy); "others" Jeanette Inch, Joan Davies and Bob Thompson (one vacancy).

(Prepared by LTC co-ordinator, Kate Reed.)

County Council notes

(Items from the September 21 meeting of Haliburton County Council.)

County council endorsed a motion from Sherborne et al, proposing to combine the 10 municipalities within the county for the purpose of obtaining insurance at a more reasonable rate.

It was pointed out that County Clerk-Treasurer Terry Noble has approached one bank and discussed the possibility of combined finances as well.

The idea of co-operative shopping for services was well received by council.

New auditors appointed

The firm of Humpage, Taylor, McDonald, of Peterborough, has been appointed as the county's auditing firm. The appointment ends more than 20 years of service in that capacity by the Haliburton firm

Dawson, Gray Chartered Accountants.

The successful bidder was the second lowest but was still a few thousand dollars lower than the previous company.

"We didn't want to see it go out of the county," Warden Jim McMahon said.

Dysart et al Reeve Curry Bishop was the only dissenting vote.

Temporary engineer

Brian Kernohan has been appointed engineer for Haliburton County on a temporary basis.

Signs

Since the Ministry of Culture and Recreation is planning to spend $1.18-million on the installation of blue highway signs directing travellers to various attractions, the County of Haliburton is requesting it's share.

The program is designed to enhance the awareness of travellers to attractions within three areas of the province.

Haliburton County is considered a tourist area and the local economy depends heavily on the tourist industry for the employment of its citizens.

Therefore, county council passed a resolution supporting the promotion of the concept and asked the ministry to make every effort to include Haliburton County in the program.

Hospitals

A resolution was passed stating: "County Council supports the principle of having hospital facilities in both Haliburton and Minden.

Next meeting

The next regular meeting of Haliburton County Council is scheduled for October 19.

Grade seven students offered Hepatitis B immunization option

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit is conducting a Hepatitis B immunization program, and will give shots to grade seven students, with parental consent. The Health Unit recommends that all children in the seventh grade be immunized. It is a safe, voluntary program and there is no cost to the parent.

Hepatitis B is a very serious disease. It is caused by a virus and can result in permanent liver damage and scarring. Some people die from hepatitis B and it is the world's leading cause of liver cancer.

It is spread by contact with the blood or body fluids of an infected person and is mainly spread by sexual contact with an infected person. It can also be spread by used needles, body and ear piercing and tattooing. An infected mother may pass the virus to a newborn during birth. However, the method of transmission cannot be found in 30 per cent of infected people.

Symptoms may last weeks or months. They include tiredness, fever, loss of appetite and, sometimes, jaundice (yellow skin and eyes).

More than 300 cases of hepatitis B are reported each year in Ontario. Many more cases are unreported because people can have the disease and not know it. There are no drugs to cure it. Most people fight off hepatitis B and develop antibodies to it. But up to 10 per cent will become carriers for life and can still pass the virus to others.

Many parents have asked questions and the Unit has given answers to the questions most asked:

Is the vaccine safe?

Yes. In fact, it's one of the safest vaccines around. It contains no blood or living virus. It's been used in Canada for more than 10 years.

Why give the vaccine to children?

Many new cases occur in early adulthood. Immunizing grade seven students will ensure they're protected well before they might be exposed to the virus.

Are there side effects?

Hepatitis B vaccine usually causes no major side effects. Your child may have minor reactions, such as redness, warmth or swelling at the injection site, tiredness or slight fever lasting 1-2 days. If your child has ever had an allergic reaction to a vaccine - or if you have any questions - please call your local health unit office.

When will the students be vaccinated?

The vaccine is given in a series of three injections spaced a certain number of weeks apart during the school year. Children get the first injection in October/November, the second in November/December and the third in April/May.

What if a child is not in school on the day that the school clinic is held?

A note will be sent home to the parent. It will list the dates and times of catch-up clinics that will be held in health unit offices or other central locations.

These clinics will be held after school hours so that parents can bring the children to the catch-up clinics for the missed injection.

Will the parent receive proof that the vaccine was given?

Yes. Once the third injection is done, a copy of the record with all of the injection dates will be sent home to the parent.

How will the child's doctor know that the child was immunized?

There is a space on the consent form for the parent to enter their family doctor's name. After the third injection is given, the health unit will send a copy of the record to the doctor.

Will the vaccine be available to other students?

Grade seven has been chosen as the age group to receive the immunization each year. As younger children reach grade seven in the future, they will be offered the vaccine at that time. Unfortunately, the free vaccination program being offered by the Ministry of Health is not available for older students. Parents can contact their family doctor to arrange vaccination of older children. However, parents should expect to pay between $80.00-$90.00 for a series of three injections for older children.

September W.I. report

The September 21 meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the Library/Cultural Centre with vice president Jean Cox welcoming the thirteen members. Convener of Family and Consumer Affairs Irene Moore had the roll call of "What's Your Beef While Shopping" and had invited Lisa Connelly of Valu mart Minden to attend. Lisa gave great answers to the questions asked and solved some problems for the group. She also made a little presentation and said that Sunday shopping is good for people who work a six day week and also for visitors or residents who need extra supplies. Jean Cox then presented a small gift to Lisa and everyone showed appreciation for her visit.

Two successful bake sales were held and the group took first prize for our entry at the Fair. Thanks to our phoning committee Beulah and Bette. Four ladies attended the Norland Branch's 65th anniversary celebration on September 18.

Irene Moore collected for the Card Fund and told of sending 26 cards for a variety of occasions since June. Pennies for Friendship were also collected. District Director Mary Cox attended the District Executive meeting at Baddow and brought back a full report. We are to serve our annual tea at Hyland Crest on September 29.

The Victoria East District Big Bucks Euchres will be Thursday October 20 at the Burnt River Centre and our supplies will be taken there. This is the only fund-raising event for this District and was very successful last year. We are not participating in Burnt River Branch's craft day.

The meeting was adjourned and a delicious lunch was served by the committee and a social half hour followed. The next meeting will be at "The Terrace" on Wednesday October 19 at 2 p.m. and all ladies are welcome to attend.

St. Joe's opens cancer centre

--submitted--

Embarking on a relationship with yet another Ontario health care facility, St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre continues to fulfil its commitment to provide the best quality health care, within existing resources, to residents of Peterborough and surrounding district.

Last Wednesday, hospital officials and officials of other health care facilities opened the new district Oncology Centre on the hospital's fourth floor. The Oncology (Cancer) Centre will offer two days of clinical service and consultation each week, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, to area cancer patients. Operating as a joint enterprise of the Kingston Regional Cancer Centre, the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation and St. Joseph's, the Peterborough Oncology centre will provide comprehensive cancer services in an ambulatory (out-patient) care setting close to patient's homes and in cooperation with their family doctor and other local community services.

The Peterborough Oncology Centre will operate with a maximum of seven staff including two nurses, one secretary and four Oncologists, each with their own speciality. Dr. Paul Cragg, a family physician in Peterborough, will act as an associate at the Centre. The Centre expects close to 4,000 visits each year and there are plans underway to expand the concept of the Centre to include continuing education outreach activities.

The opening of the centre at St. Joseph's reflects the hospital's strategic plan and its ongoing efforts to work with Peterborough Civic Hospital in consolidating services between the two hospitals.

Services found specifically at St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre now include: Orthopaedics, Ophthalmology, Urology, Rehabilitation, Oncology, General Surgery and Medicine. Dentistry service is also provided on a smaller scale at St. Joseph's.

Legion donation boosts young readers' collection

The Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 636, has recently made a generous donation of $1,000 to the Haliburton County Public Library, for the purchase of library materials designed to be of interest to younger readers.

In acknowledging the donation, Joel Levis advised that "the selection of materials has already begun and will be entering the processing stages shortly."

"This donation is very exciting," continued Levis, "because it will enable us to improve resources in an area of tremendous need. The average age of materials in our collection for younger readers is well beyond minimal accepted standards and this will help us to make a major step towards meeting our responsibilities for public library service within the county.

"We are extremely grateful for the support shown by the Royal Canadian Legion for public library services and we hop that this support will continue into the future," he concluded.

As is the usual case with donation of this nature, materials will be placed in the Minden Branch, but will be available to all library users through our InterLibrary Loan service.

NOMINATIONS

NOTICE TO MUNICIPAL ELECTORS OF THE MUNICIPALITIES STATED BELOW

TAKE NOTICE that persons may be nominated as candidates in an election between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on nomination day, Friday, October 14, 1994, but nothing in section 38 of the Municipal Elections Act, prevents a person from filing a nomination paper with the clerk during normal office hours during the period from Tuesday, October 11, 1994 to Thursday, October 13, 1994 inclusive immediately preceding nomination day.

OFFICES FOR WHICH PERSONS MAY BE NOMINATED

REEVE	1 to be elected
DEPUTY-REEVE	1 to be elected
COUNCILLORS	3 to be elected ( or as denoted)
PUBLIC SCHOOL TRUSTEES	as noted below

FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that the manner in which nominations shall be filed is set forth in section 39 of the Municipal Elections act. Nomination forms and full particulars of procedures to be followed may be obtained from the undersigned.

Where more candidates are nominated and have made the required declarations, for election to an office, than the number required to fill the said office, notice of the time for the holding of the poll, including the advance polls, and notice of the last day for making application for a certificate to vote by proxy will be given immediately.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that where, at 5:00 p.m. on Monday, October 17, 1994, the number of candidates for an office who have been nominated and have not withdrawn under subsection 42(1) is not sufficient to fill the number of vacancies to which candidates may be elected, subsection 43(1) respecting acclamation applies to those candidates. On Wednesday, October 19, 1994, following nomination day, the clerk may, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., receive and certify additional nominations for the remaining vacancies in the office in respect of which there was an insufficient number of candidates and the provisions of subsections 40(5) and 42(1) apply with necessary modifications.

GIVEN UNDER OUR HANDS this 3RD DAY OF OCTOBER, 1994.

Buckling up...saves lives and dollars

The Minden Detachment will be participating in the Seat Belt Enforcement Initiative along with many other detachments and Police Services across the province. The kick-off date will be October 1.

If you are observed by police and are not "buckled-up" while driving, you will be stopped. Anyone who does not have a legitimate medical certificate or other lawful reason, should expect to be charged. The fine will be $90.00 and two demerit points.

We are making a special effort here at Minden and extra officers have been scheduled for duty. I do not expect warnings to be issued. This is the only warning that you should expect.

In Haliburton County, we have had 129 persons injured and one killed in traffic accidents this year. We are committed to doing everything that we can to reduce these numbers. I am tired of visiting with grief-stricken families and seeing people needlessly maimed, sometimes for life.

On behalf of the OPP and those who care for you, I would like to thank the people who are complying with the Seat Belt legislation.

On October 1st, I am looking forward to seeing friendly grins and a knowing tug on the belt. Our goal is to have 100 per cent compliance and not lay any charges. Please do not disappoint either us or yourself.

Home Support Service helps alleviate loneliness

What did one in 10 people in Ontario experience this past year?

One in 10 people lived alone, were isolated, and were unable to cope with simple daily chores like preparing meals and house cleaning.

Who assists these individuals? How do they live independently in their own homes?

Haliburton County Home Support Services committed staff and 196 volunteers provide Meals on Wheels, Wheels to Meals, Home Help, Transportation, Friendly Visiting, Fone-A-Friend, Emergency Response System, Social Recreational Services to assist seniors 55 years and older, and/or persons with physical disabilities 18 years and older to remain safely and comfortably in their own homes and communities.

During the first five months of this fiscal year, April to August, Haliburton County Home Support Services delivered 1,687 nutritious meals to seniors; provided 376 hours of homemaking services, including household chores which are beyond the client's ability; completed 650 trips for individuals (seniors) who cannot get out to their own medical appointment, essential shopping and outings that are vital to their mental and physical health; and our friendly visitors gave 137 hours of their time to visit seniors for "just a chat", making sure they are coping. The total number of clients for this period was 573.

A volunteer driver for over five years explained why he volunteers, "As a Volunteer Driver I get a great deal of satisfaction, knowing that I help alleviate someone's loneliness, and that I put a smile on their face. It means so much to me. Sometimes I am the only person they see all day."

For more information about the services we provide, please call the Haliburton County Home Support Services at 457-2941 or 1-800-576-2941.

Learning from past mistakes

If we are ever to avoid repeating environmental problems we have to learn from mistakes already made.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

A new book, The Last Great Forest: Japanese Multinationals and Alberta's Northern Forests (Newest Publishers, Edmonton) by Larry Pratt and Ian Urquhart, examines the history and forces that have sealed the fate of Alberta's great boreal forest.

The northern mixed wood forest occupies over 40 per cent of the land, covering most of the province north of Edmonton. The principle tree species are white spruce, lodge pole pine, poplar, aspen and balsam.

Aspen makes up 32 per cent of the trees and was long regarded as a "weed" with "no utility or economic value" and therefore "not worth conserving", until the early '80s.

Provincial forestry philosophy was summed up in a Department of Lands and Forests document: "Timber and other products of the forest are a crop. This is the underlying thought of all forest management or conservation work." The Alberta Forest Service looked at the forest as "an under-utilized resource that needed development."

Peter Lougheed had the good fortune of being in office during the Arab oil embargo which sent oil prices skyrocketing. Alberta boomed and its Heritage Fund grew.

But after 1981, falling oil prices and high interest rates caused a decline in new investment, rising unemployment and business failures. The province's economy rested on a narrow base of oil and agriculture.

With the "chip shock" of 1979 to 80, softwood chip prices doubled, thus making Alberta forests an economic opportunity but Lougheed ignored it. Upon returning to politics in 1985, Don Getty pinpointed forestry, tourism and technology/research for development even though: "There was no economic plan; there was not even a coherent rationale for the areas chosen."

In 1986, world oil prices fell from $27 US to below $10 per barrel, bringing a loss of up to 50,000 jobs and $10 billion in the petroleum industry. Getty aggressively pursued foreign investors with a view to turning over "the long-term economic and environmental management of the great northern forests of Alberta to the biggest trans-national firms in exchange for jobs, stability and the development of some value-added industry."

In the end, "a handful of trans-national companies acquired immense timber hinterlands in northern Alberta at the expense of the many existing forest companies and sawmills that account for most of the employment in that sector and now have very limited prospects of growth."

Getty ignored the pleas for help of small already established sawmill owners, independent loggers and contractors and Native communities. One of the small independents said, "The province was always looking for industry. The big timber quotas went to the big companies and they didn't have to pay anything for them. It was the small companies that had to pay."

Alberta's environmental movement was in its infancy and the province was renowned for being gung-ho for development. But suddenly, confronted with the prospect of immense pulp mills emitting large quantities of dioxins and furans into the water and air, grass-roots organizations sprang up and demanded environmental accountability.

At the same time, aboriginal people, such as the Lubicon, recognized the threat the government commitments posed to their lands and raised wide support for their claims.

It was a battle of environmentalist and native "Davids" against industry and government "Goliaths". Pratt and Urquhart document government and industry deception, secrecy and insensitivity while local groups and natives fought to make the consequences of logging vast areas a major issue.

In spite of widespread public apprehension and almost no scientific base of knowledge about the composition and basic biology of boreal forests, water and soil, the government went ahead.

In less than two years, "the Getty cabinet approved construction of five new pulp and newsprint mills and the expansion of two existing kraft mills and allocated virtually the entire boreal forestry resource."

Yet "the Alberta government had no knowledge as to the likely environmental impact of these multiple developments on these systems."

This book makes very clear that industries are driven by the need to maximize profit for investors and have no commitment to sustaining local communities or ecosystems. Moreover, political agendas are inevitably short term, opportunistic, secretive and unprincipled. Until society as a whole recognizes that fundamental biological, social and spiritual needs must never be compromised, we will never achieve the protection of ecological bottom lines. The Last Great Forest provides insights relevant to most of the environmental problems we face in this country today.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Mrs. Carrie Drysdale has returned home from her son's, Cecil Morrison of Bowmanville, where she had been ill with inflammatory arthritis. Glad you are feeling better.

Best wishes to these people - Jack Birmingham, Helen Francis, Cub Coneybeare, Marian Ingram, Vern Graham, Jean Lacey, Evelyn Cox and Sam Rogers. Hope you are feeling better.

Eileen and Paul Cockburn of Woodville spent last Sunday with Florence Robinson and had a great visit.

Wanda and Ira Carter are having their Golden Wedding Anniversary party on October 15 at Hyland Crest from 2 - 4 p.m. with best wishes only. They'd just like to see you there.

With all the rainy weather and even a thunderstorm, we hope that the colour will last until Thanksgiving Weekend and the trees are really very grand this year. We are sure you will see much of these if you went on the studio tour last weekend.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Marlene Scott, Clara Thibideau, Merle Pringle, Kathleen Wren and James Craigmyle who passed away recently.

We noticed that the Minden Lions Club are again planning for a Christmas Parade on Saturday, December 3 at 1 p.m. so watch your paper for further details.

There were weekly games at St. Paul's on Monday afternoon September 26 with winners being Verna McDonald, Iris Taylor and Marian Parker, and most lone hands going to Nancy Gayton and draw to lucky Verna again. There will be games again here on October 3 and again October 17 starting at 1:30 p.m. with everyone welcome.

The Minden Legion 636 Seniors Group had their weekly Tuesday afternoon euchres at 1 p.m. with winners being Elli Langpohl, Iris Taylor and Verna (on a cut) and lone hands went to Clare Brooks.

Stanhope Bridge games were on Tuesday afternoon September 27 and winners of that day were Len McNeice, Helen Rice, Barry Cowling and Mary McNeice and all enjoyed a great competition and these games go at 1 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Gelert Centre started their fall season of euchres with winners on Tuesday evening being Kit Schroter, Dorothy Milburn, Truman McNeil and Earl Schellenberg and most hands were held by Helen Byne. Next games here will be on October 11 starting at 7:30 p.m. with all welcome.

There were 11 tables playing Bid Euchre at Stanhope on September 28 and having Moonshots then were Lottie Ruttan, Jean Scadden, and Milton Fletcher, and other winners were Elsie Henderson, Rheta Brown, Mary Pipher, Jim Skinner, Grenville Griffin and Brian Henderson. We hear that this is a great night of cards and all are welcome and these start at 7 p.m.

Some of the Seniors of Stanhope have started their jitney indoor Shuffle Board games on Tuesday afternoons with a good deal of fun and friendly competition and games start at 1:30 p.m. and their coffee is really delicious, and I, for one, look forward to my Tuesday afternoons.

The Minden Seniors Shuffleboard Club held a pot luck luncheon at St. Paul's Anglican Church on Wednesday, September 28 to close their season of games. After enjoying an excellent selection of homemade dishes, a meeting was held chaired by Vice President Jack Chilton, as President Marian Ingram is unfortunately in hospital. Her presence was greatly missed by all the members present. Prizes were awarded to the overall winners of the events. Ladies 1st - Betty Milford, 2nd - Irene Fuhr, 3rd - Ruth Platt, Mens 1st - Jack Chilton, 2nd - Dalton Platt, 3rd - Bill Milford, Doubles 1st - Iris Taylor and Pearl Cowen, 2nd - Muriel Harrington and Dalton Platt, 3rd - Jeanne Sears and Jack Chilton.

Euchre was then played to finish an enjoyable occasion. The winners were: High lady - Pearl Cowen, High man - Irene Fuhr, Low score - Jack Chilton and Lone hands - Joan MacKenzie.

Branch 441 Kinmount 50-50 Draw held September 24 winner: Dick Holbrook.

Club 35 Euchre, September 26: 50-50 - Jeanne Penick, Most lone hands - Bill Kleinschmidt, High lady - Helen Lee, High man - Bill Cowan, Others - Edith Russell, Merv Bunker and Jeanne Penick.

The 1994 Haliburton County Fair year has just about wound down and it is time to start planning for 1995. There are one or two positions that have to be filled. One of them being chairperson for the Fruits and Vegetable Section. We would be very pleased to hear from anyone interested in participating. The October Meeting will be held in the Exhibit Building at the Fairgrounds on October 13th at the 7:30 p.m. Everyone welcome. For information please call 286-4749 or 488-2613.

Minden & District Horticultural Society will hold the October Meeting in the Common Room of the Agnes Jamieson Gallery on Tuesday, October 4 at 7:30 p.m. A very interesting evening is planned, so plan to attend. Laurie Roberts from "Perfect Prints", Minden will give us helpful hints, ideas etc. for taking pictures of flowers. So all you Shutter Bugs come and get first hand information. After all, photography is now a part of our Flower Show.

There will be a wide choice of roots - perennials, plants, etc. on sale.

Apples are ripe! There will be many goodies made from apples for the refreshment part of the evening. Yummy!

Visitors are more than welcome.

(P.S. Information regarding "Bus Trip to Winter Fair & Cullen Gardens Festival of Lights" will be available.

Galway Firefighters Annual Turkey Shoot will be held October 8 at 10 a.m. at Galway Pine Park, Galway Road off Hwy. 121, south of Kinmount. For information call 488-3202.

A Country Western Line Dance Jamboree is being held in Coboconk on October 8, at the Royal Canadian Legion. This Jamboree is being held for everyone who is interested in Country Western Line Dancing and we are hoping to attract dancers from all over Central Ontario. This is entirely a non-profit function and the proceeds from it are to be donated to the Legion's College Bursary Fund.

Royal Canadian Legion, Minden Branch 636 Euchre for Thursday, September 22: Most lone hands - Doreen Powell, most lone hands, men - H. Stuart, high score, ladies - Vi Edgson, high score, men - Jack Chilton, low lady - Marg McAfee, low man - Bill Menard, other prizes - Betty Harper, Vivian Anderson, Marion Irvine, V. Dredge, R. Packard, May Bradbury and Ellen Holden.

Club 35 Euchre, September 19 was well attended, winners were: 50-50 - Olive Daniels, most lone hands - Helen Lee, high lady - Olive Jones, high man - Bill Kleinschmidt, others - Edith Russell, Bill Matthews and Betty Culley, special prizes - Loreta Lamb, Mary Schad, Pegge Awde and Bill Matthews.

CARDS OF THANKS

On behalf of the Terry Fox organizing committee, we would like to sincerely thank the following individuals and businesses that contributed to a very successful run: Mike Jackson & Jean Jackson, Al (Cub) Coneybeare, Doris Grant, Sheila Robb, Ethel Muli, Rozanne Hynard, Thelda McGuire, Michelle Costello, Jeff & Nadine Campbell, Betty Berenz, Ray Downs, Ted Anthon, Irv & Marion Mandel, Bob & Libby Hurrell, Amateur Radio Members, Anson, Hindon and Minden Council & Support Staff, Fire Department, Brian Sisson, Clayton Cameron, Scott Gartshore, Bill Hogg, OPP Officers - Rick Gooch, Mike Landry and Brian Ladurantaye. Donations of goods and/or services: Gord Monk, Pat Campbell, Don Nye, Jeanne & Ted Anthon, Pentney's, Shims - Minden Fruit Market, Dollo's IGA, Eastons, Jug City, Beckers (Minden locations), ALL participating merchants who hung posters and made pledge forms available. And a very special thanks to Jack Brezina & The Times staff, The Echo staff & reporter Peter Downs, Bill O'Brien - Information, for getting the word out in a timely, supportive and enthusiastic manner. Debbie Hilkers

Last week in my thank you note, I neglected to thank three people. Without their contributions, the shower for Terri would not have been a success. Thanks to my mom, Sandra Legge and Bryan Smith, and a special thanks to Lynn Bibby - without her there wouldn't have been a shower at all. Melanie Legge
